

Professor Jacques Lochard was awarded by the Ministry of Environment and Fukushima Prefecture.

As vice-chair of the International Commission on Radiological Protection (ICRP) Professor Jacques Lochard from the Department of Health Risk Control of the Nagasaki Atomic Bomb Disease received letters of appreciation from the Ministry of Environment and the Fukushima Prefectural Government at the occasion of the Minamimura Dialogue meeting held on 10 and 11 February 2018. The letters were presented in recognition of the support of the ICRP to the revitalization of the Fukushima Prefecture. As the recipient of these letters Professor Lochard recalled in his speech of thanks that what is at stake in a nuclear accident is also human dignity.
